

Canadian photographer Patrice Laroche surely will have no trouble explaining to his kids about the birds and the bees. During his wife Sandra's pregnancy, the artist created this hilarious explanatory photo series titled "How to Make a Baby" ...

The creative couple planned and carried out their project throughout the whole period of 9 months, taking pictures in the same settings as Sandra's belly expanded. The pregnancy saga of Sandra and Patrice basically denounces all the traditional cabbage and the stork stories.

